STATE LAND OFFICE,
CARSON CITY, NEVADA
October 27, 1900.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE State of Nevada, under the Act of Congress approved June 18, 1880, (21 Stats. 251), has filed in the United States Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, list No. 23 of lands selected under said Act, and has applied for a patent for said lands; that a part of said list is open to the public for inspection, and a copy thereof, by descriptive subdivisions, has been posted in a convenient place in said United States Land Office for the inspection of all persons interested and the public generally.

Within the next sixty days following the date of this notice protests or contests against the claim of said State of Nevada to any tract or subdivision described in the list, on the ground that the same is more valuable for mineral than agricultural purposes, will be received and noted by the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, for report to the General Land Office at Washington, D. C.

The following are the subdivisions described, to-wit:

Corkscrew Seed.

There are some seeds which "literally" corkscrew themselves into the ground." The most remarkable instance is perhaps that of the Spina pennata, a beautiful south European grass. The actual seed is small, with a sharp point and stiff short hairs pointing backward. The top end of the seed is produced into a fine, twisted, corkscrewlike rod, which is followed by a plain cylindrical portion, ending in a long, delicate feather, the whole being more than a foot in length. Owing to this feather the seed falls to the earth point downward and sticks in the ground.

But even if the seed should settle on its side, damp, by acting on the hairs attached to it, causes it to rise up till its point is downward. If a shower comes on or dew falls, the spiral un-winds, elongating itself upward. Being covered, like the seed, with backward pointing hairs, it usually presses against some blade of grass or other obstacle, with the result that the seed is pressed into the ground.

On the spiral becoming dry again, it curls up, and the seed is not drawn out of the ground owing to its backward pointing hairs, but the spiral and the feather are easily drawn down. On the return of damp the spiral again un-winds and, acting as before, drives the seed still farther down until at last it is quite buried.

How Br'er Rabbit Beat Br'er Fox.
One day Br'er Fox was hungry. As he wandered about the woods he saw a squirrel upon the branch of a tall tree. "Hello, Br'er Squirrel!" he said. "Hello, Br'er Fox!" replied the squirrel.

Then said Br'er Fox: "I once had a brother who could jump from limb to limb." "So can I," replied Br'er Squirrel. "Let me see you," said the fox. So the squirrel jumped from limb to limb.

"Br'er Squirrel, I have a brother who can jump from tree to tree." "I can too," So Br'er Squirrel jumped from tree to tree.

"Br'er Squirrel, I had a brother who could jump from the top of a tall tree right into my arms." "I can too," And he did. Br'er Fox ate him all up. Br'er Rabbit was lying in his bed near by and saw all that was done. "Br'er Fox," said he, "your a mighty smart man, but I had a brother who could do something you cannot do."

"What was it?" said Br'er Fox. "My brother could let anybody tie a large rock around his neck and jump off this bridge into the water and swim out." "So can I," said the fox. Then Br'er Rabbit fixed the rock and the string, and Br'er Fox jumped, but he has not been heard of since.—American Folk Lore.

A Couple of Shoeks.

"Where have you been, Mr Rocky?" demanded the boss.

"Oh, sir," replied Rocky mendaciously, "my landlady is a most excellent woman, and she has been so ill that I had to stay at home to nurse her."

This excuse went, and the boss turned away. The following day Rocky felt like he had sand in his head, and a headache as long as a rainy Sunday in the country developed. He staid at home, sending the excuse that his landlady was dead and he had to attend the funeral. Later in the day a woman entered the bookstore and inquired for Mr. Rocky.

"The reason I came here," she explained, "is because I am his landlady, and not having seen him for a week I became uneasy and called to inquire about him."

"His landlady!" gasped the boss. "Why, woman, he's attending your funeral this very day and has been nursing you for a week!"

It was a shock to the poor woman to find she was dead, but a shock of another sort struck Rocky when he came back to work. It was his funeral that time.—Louisville Times.

Distinctions In Being Kicked.

The Arabs, clever horsemen as they are, are quite as liable to accident as English grooms. But the Arab likes to be kicked by a thoroughbred horse and cannot endure to be put to any pain by an animal whose pedigree is at all defective. An English surgeon has been setting the broken leg of an Arab who complained more of the accident that had befallen him than was thought becoming in one of his tribe. This the surgeon remarked to him, and his answer was truly characteristic. "Do you think, doctor, I should have uttered a word of complaint if my own high bred colt in a playful kick had broken both my legs? But to have a bone broken by a brute of a jackass is too bad, and I will complain!"

Parried the Thrust.

A lady had in her employ an excellent girl who had one fault. Her face was always in a smudge. Her mistress tried, without offending, to tell her to wash her face and at last resorted to strategy.

"Do you know, Bridget," she remarked in a confidential manner, "it is said that if you wash the face every day in hot, soapy water it will make you beautiful?"

"Will it?" said Bridget. "Sure, it's a wonder ye never tried it, ma'am!"—Our Dumb Animals.

Got the Change.

"Why were you tempted to steal this man's purse?" "Because my doctor recommended me to take a little change."

The combined catch of cod by all the fisheries of the world is estimated at 500,000,000 pounds annually, most of which is exported to tropical countries after having been hard dried.

WHAT BILL MAKING HALF A MILLION

A dispatch appeared in yesterday's JOURNAL, stating that congressman Newlands had introduced a bill in the House to appropriate over half a million for storage dams on the Humboldt. There is not a river in the State containing a like amount or more water than the Humboldt, whose waters will irrigate a like area as the waters of the Humboldt will irrigate. There should be no jealousy over the selection of the Humboldt river for government storage purposes for at least two reasons—one of which is the amount of land that can be irrigated by the waters in the river, and the other reason arises out of the one given and is in the fact which will be made by these dams of the irrigation problem. The river is approximately four hundred miles in length and runs through a part of the State containing a large amount of land subject to cultivation when water to irrigate it can be secured. The surface formation of the country the river flows over is not peculiar to that part of the State, but in its extent it represents one of the arid problems of the basin, which has an explanation in the porous soils of the valley, which permits the waters flowing over them to go to bedrock where it continues to flow till it again appears at some point where the rock formation brings it to the surface if it is not received by the rocks through defects caused by the original elevation or upheaval of the basin to its present level.

It may be there is not a stream in the world of like extent that has so few tributaries upon the surface of the earth as the Humboldt, and it may be also true that there is not a river on the earth that flows through a like extent of desert country which retains its waters so well as the Humboldt.

The rule of absorption of waters by the valleys in general seems to be reversed when applied to the Humboldt river, which has as explanation in the fact that the valley over which the river flows is a basin containing water from the bedrock to the surface of the ground in the larger part of the valley.

The basin theory is explained by the fact that the tributary waters from the mountains about the Humboldt Valley go to the bedrock and flow on it, which accounts for the few streams there are flowing to the river on the surface of the ground.

Nature, like man, has its economies and the preservation of water in a desert country is one of them. The waters go to the bedrock and flow on it, which arrests evaporation that would rapidly exhaust any water supply there is in arid regions were it not so. The waters that flow to the Humboldt river on the bedrock are not exhausted by evaporation, which explains the continued flow in strong volume of the river through a desert country.

There are remains of arid systems still to be seen that flowed in the deserts of Arabia three thousand years ago. French engineers have made the Great Sahara blossom with roses and fruit trees by means of irrigation derived from nature's storage in and over the bedrocks, where the waters are protected from evaporation. The waters of the Humboldt may be used many times over to fertilize the surface of the earth along its course, as each time it is taken from the river to fertilize the sagebrush plains it will pass to the bedrock and return to the river.

No such extent of country is to be found elsewhere in the State possessed of like opportunities or advantages for a government task, as there are on the Humboldt. Should Mr. Newlands succeed in making it appear to the majority in Congress that the appropriation sought is strictly a commercial transaction with agriculture on the side, he may get away with the half million, but the chief difficulty in the way will be his speech on silver at the last session.

A REBELLION BY PORTO RICANS.

It looks very much like the Porto Ricans want to rebel near San Francisco, where forces could not be applied with like results as given when applied in less popular sections on the line of the railroad. The slaves, which they were while under the direction of an overseer on the train, seemed to gather from some source more courage as time passed, and particularly as they approached San Francisco bay.

It is claimed by some people that the San Francisco Examiner was in the row in a way that brought about the rebellion, which, if true, it is now making amends honorable by caring for the destitute people, which is very much like the way the Examiner people do things. There is nothing small about Hearst when humanity is in demand. He does not turn his back on the poor, or upon those in distress when relief is required. He is a noble fellow.

After-Climax Looked For.

Charles Remelli, who was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, was fined $1000 yesterday. The amount was forthcoming. It is rumored that the incident is not yet closed. Charge and counter-charge of perjury may be brought by the two principals in the case.

What Nevada Papers Say About

Happenings in This State.

The pension of James D. Barnes, a Mexican war veteran, has been increased to $12.

Miss Gregory, niece of Jerry Bray of this city and until recently one of the proprietors of the Bodie Miner, was married a few days ago to James Sherwin.—Report.

The Silver State and other eastern Nevada papers failed to chronicle a wreck on the S. P. Saturday or Sunday. The trainmen should be severely reprimanded for allowing such a day of even tenor.—Appeal.

Governor Sailer has appointed L. L. Bradley of Death, John Sparks of Reno, and John Wright of Elko to represent Nevada at the meeting of the National Livestock Association to be held at Salt Lake, January 15 to 18, 1901.

The Commissioners of White Pine county have refused to count the votes in the contest case of Comins vs. Greene for the State Senate. Mr. Greene protested against any person handling the ballots unless upon an order from a court of competent jurisdiction or upon a resolution of the State Senate. The Commissioners decided that the protest was well taken and suspended proceedings.

MINES AND MINING

News of Nevada's Leading Industry Clipped From Exchanges.

The Tuscarora-Dexter company last week shipped bullion and cyanide to the value of $18,000.—Times Review.

A rich strike of gold is reported from Ely, in the Oro quartz claims. Pieces of free milling gold as large as a gold dollar are shown in the specimens, and the ore is very rich.

Returns were received this week from the shipment of eleven and a half tons of ore recently made by the Bald Mountain Copper Company from their newly located claims on Bald Mountain, and they proved an agreeable surprise to the company, says the Sentinel.

Alleged Wit of Sam P. Davis.

Sam P. Davis spoke recently at the Forty Club of Chicago, which club includes all the prominent brainy men of the second largest city on the Western hemisphere. He made a hit. He is reported in part as follows:

Although no one wanted to believe him at first, Mr. Davis said he was the son of a clergyman, and that while he refrained from attending services where his father officiated, the latter nevertheless preached to the largest congregation in Nevada, the attendance growing every week, no one who had ever heard him preach staying away from services the next Sunday. He added that it was generally admitted in Nevada that the elder Davis was the only preacher out there who could hold his congregation. This was explained by the fact that the Rev. Mr. Davis was the chaplain of the State penitentiary. Mr. Davis added, with true western modesty, that his father had hoped that he would some day be permitted to see his son a member of the congregation.

None Can Compare.

There are many so-called minstrel organizations on the road, but none compare with the big Haverly's Mastodon minstrel, which is the original and best of all, and comes to us this time with a beautiful scenic arrangement and a company of exceptional ability, headed by the peer of all comedians, George Witton.

Faulty Service.

A Cheap Trip.

Both the Nevada-California-Oregon and Sierra Valley railway companies have granted half rates from Dec. 24 to 29, inclusive, between any points on their roads.

THE COMING SEASON

Nevada Is Looking Forward to a Very Prosperous Year.

One of the best informed ranchers on the Truckee Meadows told a JOURNAL man yesterday that he anticipated the coming summer to be one of the best seasons Nevada has ever experienced.

"Look at the prices of stock. Government buyers have forced the price of furs tails up to where fine blooded horses stood a few years ago. Cattle and sheep are regular twenty dollar pieces on the hoof.

"Then, we have better markets for our cereals, spuds and other farm products than for a long time. Nevada is not retrograding. This decrease in population for which we are being sneered at all over the country is really caused by the collapse of a few mining camps. The balance of the State, especially Washoe county, has forged ahead.

"What is going to give Nevada its biggest boost next season is the water supply. Already more snow has fallen upon the mountains than during the whole of last winter, or during any winter in the last four years, for that matter. The storms have drifted the snow deep into the gulches and not a bit of it is melting. Next season the ditches will be running full and there will be plenty left in the river for power purposes."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Gossip About the Migrating Public as They Come and Go.

Dr. Stubbs is in San Francisco.

Isaac Mathews is in from Pyramid.

Sam Longabaugh is down from Empire.

M. E. Hamilton is a visitor from Genoa.

R. K. Morrison of Eureka is at the Riverside.

W. P. Hanson of Oroville was in town yesterday.

Dr. Hutchinson was up from Wadsworth yesterday.

E. A. Roache of Gardnerville is a guest at the Arcade.

C. A. Martin of Amadee spent yesterday in this city.

W. H. A. Pike has returned from a visit to Santa Rosa.

R. M. Johnson and Tremor Coffin are down from Carson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Russell of Carson spent yesterday in Reno.

Miss Pearl Pike of Wadsworth is visiting friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Summerfield leave for San Francisco this morning.

Wm. Woodburn of Carson is practicing in the local court this week.

J. Barnes, a cattleman of Lakeview, Oregon, is registered at the Palace.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. O'Sullivan have returned from a visit to San Francisco.

F. L. Partridge, a mining man of Bodie, is spending a few days in this city.

Robert Earlsone and A. Wheeler were passengers for tidewater yesterday.

J. M. Ward, a prominent cattleman of Buffalo Meadows, is spending a few days in Reno.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bates are up from Wadsworth to spend the holidays with their relatives.

Bert Smith, one of the crack runners of the N.-O.-O. line, has resigned his engine and will enter other business.

Woman Arrested for Drunkenness.

Miss Birdie Wilson took unto herself a jag last evening. She became hopelessly, helplessly and superlatively intoxicated.

Having gotten outside of all the red liquor that her purse could purchase, she essayed to do the promenade on Virginia street. In front of the People's restaurant she was overcome by a sudden attack of vertigo, and lay down to sleep off the malady. A crowd gathered, but their lites and jeets did not disturb her serene repose.

Sheriff McInnis scattered the mob and escorted the slumberer to a couch in the steel cage.

Birdie is the young woman who attracted passing attention several years ago by trying the laudanum route with ill success.

Our Representation.

On a basis of population Washoe is entitled to one more senator and three more assemblymen. An effort will probably be made in the coming legislature to equalize the apportionment.

The copper mines of Mason valley are looking well, and it is said that many men will be given employment the coming season.

PRISONER ESCAPES

Official Carelessness Results in a Burglar's Freedom.

Edgar Smith is at this writing very probably in the snow sheds skipping along on a brakebeam toward the land of sunshine, fruit and flowers.

Edgar Smith is one of the trio that are accused of having burglarized the girls' cottage a couple of weeks ago. They were arrested at Winnemucca and were brought to Reno by Constable McNeilly. At their preliminary hearing they were bound over to await action by the Grand Jury on the ground of burglary.

The Sheriff's office says that Smith feared his accomplices and was placed with the chain gang crowd, instead of being confined in the cage with the other two burglars.

Yesterday morning Phil Bates applied for a bunch of prisoners to saw wood in the courthouse yard. Smith was among the lot given him. An hour later the burglar turned up missing. While Bates' back was turned he made his exit through a hole in the woodshed. Half an hour later a posse was formed and put on his track, but up to a late hour last night the burglar had not been captured.

LITTLE LOCAL BREVITIES

Twenty-two carloads of sheep and a carload of cattle comprised yesterday's stock shipments from this point.

Reno Weddings.

Judge Troutt's recent decision to the effect that marriages in Reno by divorced Californians are illegal has caused the San Francisco News Letter to burst forth in rhyme:

Sing a song of weddings,
Following divorce.
Troutt has made decision;
Law must take its course.
Upper courts are putting
Reno on the bum—
Where is there a Gretta Green
For divorcees to come?

By many dealers who claim to handle groceries. When they advertise GOOD GROCERIES no mention is made of PRICE. When price is mentioned QUALITY IS OVER-LOOKED. Again, sometimes they dwell on the virtues of a "LARGE" STOCK. In this case no claim is made to carrying FINEST GOODS.

We Preach the Three Main Virtues of Groceries—
Quality
Quantity
Price
They are mentioned in their regular order and the happy combination is causing hosts of pleased patrons at our store,
